THROUGH DOUGLAS COUNTY

[illegible]

OAKLAND April [illegible] 1874.

During the last six days there never has been finer weather in this State in the month of April or more favorable for getting in the balance of the spring wheat. At this place it was warm as the average of June weather in Portland. The country looks charming.

THE COAST FORK [illegible] THE WILLAMETTE VALLEY

Presents a view of rich cultivated valley land and grand mountain scenery not easily surpassed [illegible] equaled. The atmosphere is pure [illegible] healthful to an unusual degree. The farm and other houses, the fencing and general improvements in progress indicate prosperity and good taste. There will be [illegible] up to the head of the forks of the Willamette [illegible] miles a large increase to the acreage under wheat this season and the prospects of an abundant crop are very encouraging.

YONCALLA VALLEY

Is another of those beautiful valleys for which Douglas county is distinguished. It is twelve miles long and averages more than a mile in breadth. There are a number of wealthy farmers in this valley and not a few successful sheep raisers. The rich bottom lands the grassy foot hills and mountain slopes are just the places for raising sheep and wool to advantage. There will be 40 000 pounds of wool shorn in this valley this summer. Yoncalla has the honor of being the family residence of Mr Jesse Applegate one of the most upright intelligent and patriotic men and independent thinkers in the State and of whom any State in the Union might be proud.

THE CALAPOOIA VALLEY

Ranks among the extensive and fertile valleys of Douglas county. The bottom lands are very rich the prairies produce abundant cereals the orchards fine fruits the gardens beautiful flowers and the foothills and mountain slopes delicious grass that make them the natural home for sheep. The town of Oakland occupies the center of the valley. West of the town for seven miles are farms of more than ordinary richness productiveness and comfortable homes. East of the town the valley is equally adapted for flocks and herds. The country is well watered by the Calapooia river its many tributaries and numerous springs the grass is rich and abundant and the general appearance of the country at this season of the year is absolutely grand and sublime.

THE HALL FAMILY

Dr Hall is one of the leading and successful sheep ranchers of this part of the valley. He has 1 100 acres under grass and has a flock of sheep that do him credit. He has lately made an extensive tour in England, looking after the best breeds of sheep and their modes of raising with the view of improving his stock. He brought a great variety of grasses for experimenting with a large assortment of ornamental trees and plants with which to adorn his grounds. The doctor is a man of culture and refinement and is a favorable sample of the "fine old English gentleman." His brothers George and John Hall reside three miles further up the valley. They excel in raising fine cattle of the short horn stock, keep an extensive dairy for butter that is celebrated for its superior quality as far as known. They have an extensive orchard that produces choice fruits and a large garden that raises the best of vegetables, with which they supply the town and neighborhood. Their ranch consists of 700 acres. These ranches are four and seven miles respectively east of Oakland and are well worth the visit of any farmer who wants to learn lessons of industry, economy, enterprise taste, hospitality, refinement and independence of spirit—men that cannot be chained to the chariot wheels of any despotic party or led by corrupt politicians. All honor to such men. May their number be multiplied in the State a thousand fold.

THE TOWN OF OAKLAND

Comes next to Junction City as one of the successful towns on the line of the Oregon and California Railroad. Its rise was comparatively rapid for the first eighteen months. There have been considerable improvements made during the last six months and more will be made during the summer. Abraham & Brother, J J Like and J S Kohn are among the extensive and successful merchants. The wool market has opened here at 25 cents a pound and several engagements have been made at this price with the promise of any advance in the price during the season. This is encouraging for those engaged in this important industry. Among the peculiar features of this place worth mentioning is the restaurant kept by Mr Richard Thomas at the railroad station. For solid comforts splendid cooking good taste marked attention and moderate charges commend me to Mr and Mrs Thomas. It is only justice to all concerned to state that at the three places where the Oregon and California trains stop for meals—Aurora Junction and Oakland—the meals are equal to any provided in the best hotels in Portland and not a few of them might learn profitable and valuable lessons for their guests by visiting any of the three hotels named. It must not be omitted to mention that Oakland was

THE STARTING POINT OF THE INDEPENDENT MOVEMENT

In this State. The sudden rise and rapid progress of this movement has few parallels on the Pacific coast. Only three or four months since the success of the movement in a single county was treated with contempt and laughed at with scorn now it is the uppermost thought in the minds of the citizens of the entire State. It will carry the Douglas county vote the key county of the south, and the largest county in the state by a majority of from 200 to [illegible] votes—a sufficient number to neutralize all the other southern counties that [illegible] favorable to the Democratic party. It will carry a majority of the large counties in the Willamette Valley and of Eastern Oregon, and place the State ticket in all reasonable probability at the head of the poll on the first Monday of June. It is one of the hopeful signs of the time to see amidst so much State and National corruption such selfish and [illegible] combinations of grasping monopolies and such [illegible] slavery to demagogues and [illegible] politicians the grand uprising of the independent spirit and action of the people in their political [illegible]. The irrepressible conflict between political corruption and the free and independent action of the people is fairly inaugurated and will not cease until the grand object is accomplished.

It is possible that the first battle of the people in this State for independence may be a [illegible] but future victory is guaranteed by the laws of truth and justice. [illegible] magnificent grants of land [illegible] by Congress [illegible] in building [illegible] railroads of the [illegible] to develop the resources of the country and [illegible] agriculture trade and commerce—the United States would [illegible] the head of the nations of the world [illegible] most generous [illegible] and influential. But the selfish and corrupt [illegible] unfortunately entrusted [illegible] politicians of the State [illegible] and the national Congress [illegible] what was intended [illegible] national blessings has been perverted [illegible] [illegible] truth will [illegible].

NORTHWEST.

[illegible] Applegate, [illegible] Hart and Still [illegible] been committed [illegible] other crimes in the vicinity of [illegible] New Mexico [illegible] the [illegible] country [illegible] recently went in pursuit of them and succeeded in killing [illegible] and Still [illegible] confident of capturing Hart and Applegate.

FOR BETTER OR FOR WORSE

THE [illegible] COUNTY CONVENTIONS—[illegible] THE [illegible] TICKET [illegible] THE INDEPENDENTS [illegible]

[illegible]

The Democratic County Convention.

[illegible] Saturday April 25 1874.

According to previous arrangements the Democratic and Republican Douglas County Convention met at [illegible] to-day with the view of forming a joint ticket as the only means of defeating the Independent cause in this county. The Democratic Convention met in the Court House at 10 o clock. Mr J M Armitage was elected temporary Chairman and Mr [illegible] Secretary. A committee of three on credentials was appointed by the Chair consisting of F R Hill, M Callahan and John Weaver. A committee of five on permanent organization was appointed by the Chair consisting of J S Wagner, S Minard, D H McBride, Isaac F Rice and C M Caldwell.

A committee of five to confer with the same number from the Republican Convention on a joint ticket was appointed by the Chair consisting of N Mitchell, George Dement, A W Compton, L Darnell and John Stanley. The Convention adjourned for an hour to afford these committees time to prepare their reports. At the expiration of the hour

THE CONVENTION CAME TO ORDER

The committee on credentials handed in their report which was read and adopted. The Convention was authorized to cast the votes of absent delegates. The committee on permanent organization submitted the following report:

1. We recommend the following permanent officers: J M Armitage, Chairman; J F [illegible], Secretary and G J Callahan Assistant Secretary.
2. We recommend the following order of business: The appointment of a committee of five by the Chair on conference with a similar committee from the Republican Convention relative to the formation of a county ticket.
3. Nomination in the order recommended by the Committee on Conference. Respectfully submitted.

S MINARD
I F RICE
C M CALDWELL
Committee

This report was taken up section by section discussed and finally adopted, after which the Convention adjourned till [illegible] o clock. At that hour there was no prospect of a report from the Conference Committee on a joint county ticket for some time although the Committee had been in session since 11 o clock. Another adjournment took place subject to the call of the Chair. At [illegible] o clock the Convention came to order when the following report was handed in read adopted and the Committee discharged.

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMITTEE ON A UNION COUNTY TICKET

The undersigned the majority of your Committee appointed for the purpose of conferring with a like Committee of the Republican Convention in reference to a joint ticket, beg leave to submit the following report:

We recommend that the respective Conventions be permitted to nominate candidates for the following offices:

The Republican Convention shall nominate candidates for the following offices: State Senator, one Representative, Sheriff, Treasurer, one County Commissioner, Assessor and County Surveyor.

The Democratic Convention shall nominate candidates for the following offices: Three Representatives, County Judge, County Clerk, County School Superintendent, County Commissioner and Coroner.

The candidates nominated by each Convention in pursuance of this report shall be renominated by both Conventions. All of which is respectfully submitted.

A W COMPTON
NAT MITCHELL
JOHN STANLEY
GEO DEMENT
Committee

Nominations were then in order. A motion to nominate viva voce was carried. The following nominations were made by acclamation: For Representatives J F Rice, James H Bean and James Richards; County Judge, Major Brown; County Clerk J D Van Buren; School Superintendent Quincy A Grubb; County Commissioner G J Callahan; Coroner Dr Venable.

John C Smith, Isaac Jones and John M Wright were appointed a committee to inform the Republican Convention that they had adopted the report of the Joint Committee for a Union ticket and to invite the members to join them in the Court House to form a Joint Convention. The answer was that the invitation was accepted and the members would attend at 5 o clock by which time their business would be completed.

The Republican County Convention.

The delegates to this Convention met in the Academy at 10 o clock this morning and were called to order at that hour. Mr J J Gazley was appointed temporary Chairman, and Mr G B Long Acting Secretary.

On the motion of J F Watson, a committee of three was appointed by the Chair on Credentials. The committee consisted of J F Watson, D Parsley, J B Emery. A recess of thirty minutes was taken to allow the committee time to report.

At 11 o clock the Convention came to order. The Committee on Credentials handed in their report. It was read by the Secretary, adopted and the committee discharged.

On motion, Mr Todd and Mr Clinkenbeard were allowed to represent Wilbur precincts.

Mr H G Brown of Elkton was authorized to represent Gardner and Scottsburg precincts.

The delegates present were empowered to cast the full vote of their precincts.

On the motion of Mr J F Watson a committee of five was appointed by the Chair to confer with a similar number from the Democratic Convention with the view to form a joint ticket. The Chairman appointed J F Watson, B Hamlin, Austin Myers, William Russell and Elisha Livingston.

On the motion of Mr J F Watson a committee of three was appointed by the Chair on the Order of Business. The committee were J Cooper, Clay Slocum, and W [illegible] Benjamin.

The temporary officers were declared the permanent officers of the Convention.

The Convention adjourned till two o clock to wait the report from the joint committee to form a union ticket. The committee were not able to report till three o clock. At that hour the Convention was called to order. The committee handed in their report which was a duplicate of the one submitted to and approved by the Democratic Convention already. The report was read, adopted and the committee discharged. It was resolved to proceed to vote for the officers [illegible] the Convention by the joint committee on conference. Two tellers were appointed.

For State Senator [illegible] H G Brown, James [illegible] Cooper, [illegible] William W H Myers were put in nomination. The delegates voted by precincts. A [illegible] majority of the entire vote was [illegible]. Mr [illegible] Mr Brown 9, Mr Cooper 13, Mr Williams 6, Mr Myers 1. In all [illegible] Mr Brown was declared nominated. For Representative W [illegible], [illegible] A H W[illegible] and A W Dixon were nominated. Mr Benjamin [illegible] Mr Woodruff [illegible] Mr Dixon 11, Mr Woodruff was declared nominated. For Sheriff [illegible] Livingston, Stanley [illegible] and J B Hamlin were nominated. Mr Livingston [illegible] Mr Fish 8, Mr Hamlin [illegible]. Mr Livingston was declared nominated. For Treasurer J B Noble, Dr Smith, [illegible] Davenport and C Gaddis were nominated. Mr Noble got [illegible] votes, Dr Smith 10, Mr Davenport 1, Mr Gaddis 11. In all [illegible]. Mr Noble wanted [illegible] of being [illegible]. On the second ballot Mr Noble got [illegible] and Mr Gaddis 12. Mr Noble was nominated. All these nominations were made [illegible]. [illegible] Applegate was nominated for County Commissioner by acclamation. [illegible] was nominated in a similar manner for County Assessor and so was Peter Applegate for County Surveyor.

The Joint Convention.

The nominations being completed the Convention adjourned to the Court House to join the Democratic Convention agreeable to the invitation of the latter, to form a Joint Convention for the ratification of the Union ticket. At [illegible] o clock the two Conventions assembled. Mr J M Armitage, Chairman of the Democratic Convention, and Mr J J Gazley Chairman of the Republican Convention on taking their place shook hands most cordially over the bloody chasm and were lustily cheered by the members.

On motion of Mr J F Watson it was unanimously resolved that the nominees of the Democratic and Republican Conventions be adopted as the Union ticket of the Joint Convention.

Mr Watson was then called on for a speech but declined. Mr [illegible] made some witty remarks which called forth applause and merriment. Mr Gazley made an enthusiastic speech and closed with the declaration that the Union ticket would beat the Independents as effectually as ever the Israelites did the Philistines.

On motion, the Joint Convention adjourned.

A sheepraiser in Wasco county writes as follows: "On the 1st of April I had 92 ewes with 134 lambs. I have now about 300 lambs more than one third of which are twins. How high is that? Should they keep on increasing in that ratio I shall have over 700 lambs from 92 ewes. This I think is very good. I intend to compete for the first prize on twins."

The average stableman is happy in Washington county as he well may be for the season is already at hand and now is that the average young man loves to spin his girl through the country in the best of turn outs while sparkling eyes gaze fondly on blushing beauty and rippling laughter is borne across the waving field to the woody dells beyond.

THE PARTY SWINDLE

There is a rumor abroad that a secret arrangement has been effected between the Custom House ring of this city and some of the leading Democratic managers under which there is to be swapping of votes at the general election so as to elect a portion of each of the party tickets. It is stated that LaDow and Tolman are to be traded off and Dick Williams and Grover elected, and it is intimated that the candidates themselves are in the agreement, and that that is the explanation of their letting the campaign go by default. In order to avoid detection till it is too late to prevent the bargain and sale of the rank and file of the party from being consummated, the arrangement is to be kept secret and the trading is to be carried on in each different locality without letting it be known that it is being done elsewhere. To execute this piece of treacherous strategy only one person of each party in a precinct is to be let into the secret, and where it is impossible to find suitable agents to carry on the fraud in a precinct the plan is not to be tried. Such will be the case only in small precincts and it is thought enough of swindling can be done in other quarters to make the scheme a success. We do not vouch for the truth of this report but it has been talked of for some days and the silence of LaDow and Tolman would appear to lend color to it. And it is not to be overlooked that in some of the counties—as in Douglas and Washington and Polk, for instance—negotiations for a fusion of the two straightout parties, and the bringing out of Dolly Varden tickets have been going on for some time with nothing standing in the way of their success except the fact that the Independents are clearly able to beat both the straighout crowds combined. In Douglas county, indeed, the fusion is already consummated, and the Dolly Varden ticket is in the field—with no chance of election, however. And this has been accomplished, not by a joint convention, but by separate conventions nominating tickets to be fused subsequently after the manner of the State ticket swindle. It remains to be seen whether the wire pullers of the two parties can sell out the people of their parties en masse, by a piece of hocus-pocus such as this.

INTERESTING DISCLOSURES

The News answers the Bulletin's denial of the charges of peculation against Mr W. L. Higgins, Superintendent of Constructing the Custom House, by publishing the following affidavit:

PORTLAND, Ogn, January 8, 1874.

To whom it may concern. I hereby make the following statement in relation to work performed by me on the new Custom House now being erected in Portland, Oregon under the supervision of Wm. L. Higgins.

About the 2d day of July, 1873, E. Milwain, who I have been told is one of said Higgins bondsmen, asked me to work for him, promising $3 50 a day for work in the shop, and $4 for work as a tinner outside, the days to consist of 10 hours each. I worked since in the tin shop for said Milwain, and about the 11th of July, 1873, commenced working on said Custom house, putting tin on the dome, and continued to work there for about three days. About the 23d of July I began work again on said dome of the Custom house putting on copper and worked along on said Custom house until the 9th of August last, making in all 17 days of 10 hours each, which I worked on said Custom House and no more. I worked 10 full hours each day.

About the last of July, or the fore part of August, I was requested to go down from my work on the Custom house to the office of Higgins to sign a voucher so as it was said that said Milwain could draw his money. When I got into said Higgins office, a voucher or receipt was handed me to sign for $114. I was told to sign it, it would be all right.

I signed the receipt or voucher but got no money. A draft for that amount ($114) was then handed me which I gave to said Milwain.

About the 23d of September last another receipt was presented to me to sign for the sum of $156 and some cents, for work in August on the dome of said Custom house. I signed said receipt or voucher for said amount, but got no draft at that time. After that I had a settlement with said Milwain for said seventeen days work on said Custom house and was only allowed $3 50 for each day of ten hours and getting in all only $59 50 though some of that amount was paid before all the work was done. Said Milwain's brother requested me not to tell what I got for my work on said Custom house but I make this statement that justice may be done and the truth known.

JOHN H STAIR.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 8th day of January 1874.

WM B GILBERT,
Notary Public in and for Multnomah county and State of Oregon.

This looks very much as if somebody were engaged in pilfering on a pretty liberal scale. Who it is that does the stealing, it is not easy to determine, as the different members of the ring seem to sustain such relations to each other that stealing in one department may be readily committed by those who are supposed to confine their operations to some other. But the fact of peculation is here conclusively proved, unless an affidavit bearing the intrinsic evidence of truth is to be regarded as false. The net product of this one little operation may be tabulated as follows:

Amount of vouchers	$[illegible] 00
Money actually paid the workman	$ 53 00
Amount fobbed by the ring	207 00
	[illegible] 00

The stealings are about 78 per cent. An interesting though not particularly interesting problem is suggested by this showing, as to the amount of stealings on the entire building.

THE RING HYPOCRITES THROW OFF THE MASK

The shameless attempt of the party leaders to make bills of sale of the rank and file of their parties will hardly be ratified by all those who are to be included in the transfer. A large majority of the Republicans who have adhered to the party organization have done so because they believed in the principles of their party, and did not see that the issues that formerly divided them from the Democrats were entirely obsolete. And the same is true of most of the Democrats who declined to forego their party affiliations and unite with those who thought best to act for the common good without regard to party differences. How will such Republicans relish the idea of being transferred bodily into the Democratic party by their self appointed leaders? How will such Democrats who are Democrats from principles take the dose prepared for them at the June election? These things prove that we have been in the right all the time in saying that the rings and professional politicians and office seekers who have all along been declaring so loudly against any relaxation of party lines and clamoring for the maintenance of the party organizations had no love for their party principles. They have no use for the party except as a means of getting office and, the more exhorting and clamoring their followers to renew their allegiance to the respective parties were only cant and hypocrisy. They have now thrown off the mask and the negotiations for the sale of the voters of the respective parties to candidates of the opposition are going on openly and shamelessly. The politicians who only a short time ago were protesting in the most vehement terms against any affiliation with persons who had formerly differed from them politically are now engaged in forming an alliance with the extreme partisans of the opposition. We shall see whether this brazen fraud can be forced upon the honest voters of the country.

THE RAILROAD BILL PASSED THE SENATE COMMITTEE

James G Chapman Esq, received yesterday from his father who is now at Washington, the following dispatch:

WASHINGTON D C April 2, 1874.

To Jas C Chapman: Truth and justice triumph. Our bill passed the Senate Committee this morning. Senator Kelly is one of the committee authorized to make a written report. We now have a favorable report in both House and Senate which I think assures success. Kelly, Mitchell and Nesmith brave and true.

W W CHAPMAN.

The Indiana Independents having put their hand to the plow do not propose to look backward. The fall elections of last year in that State were a series of splendid triumphs for political reform and the men who accomplished them are determined to hold to the fruits of victory—as the average orator used to say in Reconstruction times. In every county of the State calls have been issued for an Independent State Convention to convene at Indianapolis in the third week of May. Add another State to the roll of the regenerated ones.

Willis Drummond, who has for many years occupied the position of Commissioner of the General Land Office in the Interior Department has resigned and will retire May 1st. This action is attributed to the inadequateness of the salary to the responsibilities of the office.

GRANGER TIM AND SLIPPERY DICK

THE DISCUSSIONS AT OAKLAND AND AT ROSEBURG—ALTOGETHER ONE SIDED—DAVENPORT GETS THE BETTER OF WILLIAMS AND THE RING CANDIDATE FLIES FROM THE HANDLE

ROSEBURG April 25 1874.

I had the satisfaction of hearing for the first time Richard Williams speak at a public meeting held in Oakland on Thursday evening. The meeting was called to hear him and Mr T W Davenport discuss the political issues before the people. From what I had heard of Mr Williams I anticipated an able argument and an intellectual treat but I was much disappointed. His speech consisted principally of evasive quibbles, personal abuse of his opponent, and a strong declaration of his freedom from the control of any Holladay-Mitchell Custom-house ring.

MR DAVENPORT'S SPEECH

Was calm dignified and argumentative delivered with more than usual energy and power and sparkling with wit and humor. He paid Mr Williams in full with interest for his personalities. The effect was that when the former rose to attempt a reply it was simply a storm of irritated feelings and bad temper.

There is this to be said as an apology for Mr Williams that the great mass of the audience was in sympathy with the Independent cause that Mr Davenport advocated. Mr Williams was conscious of this and felt its depressing effects. The former felt that he was in the midst of friends, and that of itself had a favorable influence on a good speaker. In consequence of the short notice and the uncertainty of a meeting the attendance was not as large as it would otherwise have been. The Independent cause is very popular in Oakland precinct and the friends there speak confidently of carrying Douglas county by a majority of at least 200.

THE ROSEBURG DISCUSSION

As Oakland is considered the central point of the Independent cause in Douglas county Roseburg has the reputation of being the head quarters of the Republican and Democratic parties in the same county. This was much in favor of Mr Williams so much so that he and his friends expected him to carry all before him in the discussion. It was Mr Davenport's turn to make the opening speech. He now had it in his power to set an example how a discussion of this kind should be conducted. His address was worthy of the occasion. It was delivered in a calm and dignified spirit full of telling facts and able arguments pointing out the corruption of the party leaders and the necessity of an Independent party if the State and Nation would be delivered from extravagant government high taxation dangerous monopolies and corrupt and arbitrary party rings.

Mr Williams feeling that he was safe in anything he might utter at Roseburg commenced by insulting the Chairman because he introduced him as the champion of the Republican party. This championship he utterly repudiated and declared that he stood there as the representative of no party but as a free man responsible to no man, party or ring. The balance of his speech was a series of witty anecdotes employed to turn Mr Davenport into ridicule. These took well with this audience. One of his stories was a vulgar account of a servant girl who became mother before she was a wife and who thereby lost her character. He tried to apply it to Mr Davenport. When he found it took well with the audience he told it [illegible] several times. But as for a declaration of principles or any able argument, anything like dignified manners or an elegant passage—in all these regards the speech of Judge Williams was an utter failure. Conscious of what he deserved and what he was sure to get he left the Court House the moment Mr Davenport rose to reply. The reply was a complete refutation of Mr Williams' slanders, the genuine wit, cutting sarcasm and telling facts satisfied the audience that Mr Davenport was more than a match for the Judge in [illegible] discussion. Many expressed the opinion that Williams would be as tired of Mr Davenport by the first Monday in June as he ever was of any business he ever [illegible] and that his chances for election would have been much better if he had remained at home. The practice of making these political campaigns an occasion for personal abuse, retailing slander and telling questionable stories is utterly unworthy of the occasion and pernicious in its influence on the public mind. These were the reflections of many of the best residents of Roseburg and vicinity with whom I afterwards conversed. Many of Mr Williams' best friends regretted his inability to control his temper and very many who had been his warm supporters—relying hitherto on the honorable reputation he had in this section—unqualifiedly condemned the vulgar almost indecent grade of his humor. No man can say that Mr Williams has covered himself with glory in his canvass. The truth is simply he is driven to the wall. Davenport presses him so closely and corners him so invariably that poor Williams gets irritated, mad and flies from the handle. Then he seems to lose control of his tongue and what should be calm dispassionate discussion degenerates into low personal abuse.

THE DEMOCRATIC AND REPUBLICAN DOUGLAS COUNTY CONVENTIONS

Were held here to day with the view of forming a Union ticket for county officers. Both these parties are satisfied that if separate tickets were nominated the Independents would beat them by a large majority. The rank and file of the Democrats and Republicans would have been satisfied to let their respective parties go by default and vote for the Independents but the leaders of both parties have an ax to grind that will pay. A Union ticket and a joint convention of Democrats and Republicans were their only hope of succeeding in getting a pliant District Judge and a friendly Board of County Commissioners. Therefore the reconciliation of Herod and Pilate in a marriage contract by which a [illegible] and oppression may be perpetuated and Independence crushed. [illegible] unnatural and the [illegible] will be a failure.

The several politicians had their wires artfully laid and well worked [illegible] the apparent harmony. There was [illegible] in the election of the Chairman in putting the appointment of committees entirely under their control in the hands of popular candidates [illegible] managers so that everything [illegible] and no opportunity [illegible] for Independent action and the [illegible] went apparently merry as a marriage bell.

The separate and joint convention claim that they have put in the field the best ticket ever [illegible] in Douglas county, composed principally of honest and intelligent farmers, Grangers and others of a like character. This is the highest compliment [illegible] that the leaders of these conventions could pay to the Independent cause, and completely justifies the necessity of that movement on the part of the people.

At these conventions there was apparent harmony, unanimity, and a little enthusiasm. But before the first Monday in June the electors will probably discover that an accommodating Judge, friendly County Commissioners and extravagant tolls on the Canyonville road—the grand and ultimate objects to be attained by this joint convention and Union ticket—are not in their interests. The unnatural marriage will terminate in a divorce and disaster to the now apparently happy family by the time the honeymoon is over.

ROSEBURG, THE PRESENT TERMINUS

Of the Oregon and California Railroad should have grown considerably by this time but it has not done more than hold its own cleverly. If the railroad had been run in the interests of the merchants, farmers and travelers as well as for the Company the results would have been vastly different as suggested through your paper on the occasion of my former visit to this place. The consequence is growth is at a stand still here, wheat fields are being turned into pasture for sheep, freights are getting lighter and travel less. Stubbornness and undue selfishness are meeting with their just rewards.

FACTS

Are Stubborn Things!!

IT IS A FACT

That BRADLEY, MARSH & CO. are now doing the leading Dry Goods business of Portland.

IT IS A FACT

That they sell Goods wonderfully cheap.

IT IS A FACT

That their facilities for purchasing cannot be excelled by any House on the Coast.

IT IS A FACT

That their Stock is now replete in every particular.

IT IS A FACT

That their DRESS DEPARTMENT for extent of variety and moderation in prices, is without a rival, even in the largest cities in America.

IT IS A FACT

That they sell all DOMESTIC GOODS at cost of importation.

IT IS A FACT

That Cash buyers can save 25 per cent by purchasing at their Store.

IT IS A FACT

That BRADLEY, MARSH & CO. are not impelled by the maddening crowds' ignoble strife to gain wealth for Wealth's sake, regardless of the means employed to compass that end. With contemplation's sober eye they can foresee, with regret, the baneful effects of this all-absorbing passion evinced even in our rulers, as shown by the recent attempt at inflation, and which but for the wise and manly course of our worthy President, would have inflicted disastrous consequences on the country. Their desire is to build up a business, the growth and magnitude of which shall be alike honorable to themselves and creditable to the intelligence of the enlightened community that patronizes them, and to whose best interests they are devoted.

BODY FOUND.—Chas W. Thorvold, [illegible] mate on board the barkentine Portland, discovered yesterday morning about 6 30 o'clock the remains of a man floating past between the vessel and the wharf. He immediately gave the alarm and the body was towed along to a point just below Flanders' wharf. Chief [illegible] was immediately notified of the fact and at once communicated the intelligence to Coroner Dyer. Obeying the summons, Dyer repaired immediately to the spot where the remains lay, where a jury was called to inquire into the cause of the man's death. Several witnesses were examined from which the following facts were elicited. The name of the deceased was Charles Wilson. He was a native of Holland [illegible] he came to this port on board the bark [illegible]. After being discharged from the vessel deceased had shipped on board the Jane A Falk[illegible]. He was last seen on Saturday 11th inst when he was under the influence of liquor. The remains from appearance had been in the water twelve or fourteen days and were badly decomposed. Upon the person of the deceased was found a pocket book, his discharge from the ship, [illegible] and thirty five cents in money. The jury after hearing the testimony in the case returned the following verdict: We the jury summoned to inquire into the cause of the death of the person whose body now lies before us do find that the deceased was named Charles Wilson, that he was a seaman by profession, a native of Holland aged about 45 years and that he came to his death by accidental drowning. Wm A Daly foreman, W F Tenant, [illegible]ing, A J Bartlett, H C Gordon, James Carroll, [illegible] Cook. The remains were buried yesterday afternoon.

A REVENGEFUL LOVER.—Ah Gon, but who is called Gon for brevity's sake, is under arrest in the city jail for an attempt to commit arson. Gon, it seems, was in love with a Chinese damsel and a few days or nights ago sought with her a refuge from her owner in flight. Doubtless he imagined a store of bliss just ahead, but his hopes were of short duration, for swift on his track the pursuers [illegible] and the love sick Gon and his inamorata were brought back and she was restored to her master according to the laws of the Ming dynasty. [illegible] Gon's love might thus be quenched his wrath was [illegible] kindled and he [illegible] over his wrongs until he [illegible] to have revenge [illegible] might scatter the fragments [illegible] men all over the [illegible] he purchased a large [illegible] of powder and putting it into two [illegible] placed them under the house of the [illegible] was so cruelly snatched from his [illegible] object of his affections. He [illegible] cautiously kindle a fire near [illegible] so near that he would have [illegible] distance away before it blew up [illegible] [illegible] before [illegible] to-day [illegible] of [illegible] usual [illegible] escaped [illegible] So Gon was arrested [illegible] examination [illegible] further details [illegible] may be made.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—[illegible] learn [illegible] Mr Hu[illegible] [illegible] from the [illegible] at Ca[illegible] her destination [illegible] a steep [illegible] [illegible] and her [illegible] her hold upon [illegible] the shock, the [illegible] of the log, [illegible] the log fell upon the [illegible] manner as to [illegible] of the unhappy [illegible] in their deep affliction [illegible] heartfelt sympathy of all the [illegible] friend.

BOND SAFE.—[illegible] were rife on the [illegible] since Saturday [illegible] the effect that the official bond of [illegible] Lado, the defaulting [illegible] absconded [illegible] Clerk [illegible] there were good [illegible] for believing [illegible] taken it away with him or destroyed it. [illegible] credence to a [illegible] extent, [illegible] [illegible] to these flying rumors although it was a mooted question how [illegible] bond [illegible] into Lado's possession. The taxpayers of this District may rest content [illegible] announce that the [illegible] only a few days preceding the disappearance [illegible] Robert Dr Glenn one of the [illegible] deposited the bond in the safe of the First National Bank where it now is for secure keeping.

SURGICAL.—The difficult operation of the excision of a cyst or tumor from the neck of a young lady was skillfully performed in this city yesterday by Dr H. L. Jones assisted by Dr J T Ghiselin [illegible] after lasting about twenty minutes and the patient Miss Nettie Cooper of Salem endured it bravely and is now doing well.

A DIFFERENT BOY.—[illegible] Charles R. Carroll who goes to the [illegible] street school and is younger [illegible] requests us to tell the people [illegible] from the Charlie Carroll who [illegible] by the Police [illegible] his name [illegible] papers.

BY REQUEST.—Elsewhere we publish in full by request of the Committee of arrangement the oration of Chas. W. Parrish delivered yesterday at Masonic Hall. It is a very handsome literary production and we commend its perusal to every reader.

TEMPERANCE.—LADIES' MEETING.—The temperance exercises in the Taylor street M. E. Church this evening will be conducted by the ladies of the Prayer League. Exercises of unusual interest may be expected. Everybody is invited.

BODY FOUND.—Chas W Thorvold, second mate on board the barkentine Portland discovered yesterday morning about 6 30 o clock, the remains of a man float past between the vessel and the wharf He immediately gave the alarm, and the body was towed along to a point just below Flanders wharf Chief Lappeus was immediately notified of the fact who at once communicated the intelligence to Coroner Dyer Obeying the summons Dyer repaired immediately to the spot where the remains lay, when a jury was called to inquire into the cause of the man s death Several witnesses were examined from which the following facts were elicited The name of the deceased was Charles Wilson He was a native of Holland a seaman by occupation, and that he came to this port on board the bark Annie W Weston. After being discharged from that vessel, deceased had shipped on board the Jane A Falkinburg He was last seen on Saturday, 11th inst when he was under the influence of liquor The remains from appearance had been in the water twelve or fourteen days, and were badly decomposed. Upon the person of the deceased was found a pocket-book, his discharge from the ship City [illegible], and thirty five cents in money The jury after hearing the testimony in the case, returned the following verdict We the jury summoned to inquire into the cause of the death of the person whose body now lies before us, do find that the deceased was named Charles Wilson, that he was a seaman by profession, a native of Holland, aged about 45 years and that he came to his death by accidental drowning Wm A Daly, foreman W J Tennant, A J Bartlett, H C Gordion, James Carroll H Cook. The remains were buried yesterday af

A REVENGEFUL LOVER.—Ah Gon but who [illegible] "Gon for brevity s sake, is under arrest in the city jail for an attempt to commit arson. I. O. O. F.

FIFTY FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE INTRODUCTION OF THE ORDER OF ODD FELLOWSHIP IN THE UNITED STATES—GRAND CELEBRATION OF THE EVENT BY THE MEMBERS OF THAT ORDER IN PORTLAND—MUSIC PARADE ORATION AND BALL

A more propitious day for a public celebration of any kind could not have been desired than was yesterday Indications at an early hour of the day betokened rain, but long before the hour of noon most of the clouds had disappeared and the sun was shining forth in all his glorious strength

According to announcement the Odd Fellows of Portland celebrated the fifty fifth anniversary of the introduction of that Order into the United States, yesterday the order of exercises consisting, as is customary of music parade oration and concluding with a grand ball in the evening

In point of number and imposing appearance the celebration of yesterday was by far the most interesting which has been given in the State for many years under the auspices of that order A number of invitations had been extended to members from abroad and numerous delegates from various portions of the State were present to participate in the interesting exercises

At 10 o clock A M the packet arrived from Vancouver having on board about twenty five delegates from Vancouver Lodge No and a large number of ladies and gentlemen from that place who came hither to be present at the celebration The steamer approached the wharf with her pennants gaily streaming in the morning breeze, and the Twenty First Infantry Band which accompanied the delegation, playing one of their animated and soul enlivening airs An immense throng attracted by the music, had congregated and the wharves and back porches were lined with spectators Immediately on landing the delegation was waited upon by the appropriate committee Headed by the Twenty First Infantry Band the delegation was escorted to the Odd Fellows Temple, where they disbanded until the hour appointed for forming the procession

ONE O CLOCK.

Was the hour designated for forming the procession At 12 30 P M, the members of Orient Lodge No 17, left their hall in East Portland, and escorted by the band of that place marched to the ferry landing Reaching the western shore the procession headed directly for the Odd Fellows Temple—the place of rendezvous On arriving at the Temple an immense crowd of people were found assembled Sidewalks streets and balconies were jammed with expectant throngs of ladies and gentlemen, eagerly waiting for the procession to move Delegations from all the Lodges were in readiness, so that very little delay followed Ten minutes past 1 o clock Mr C C Phillips Grand Marshal, made his appearance at the foot of the stairs Immediately the sidewalk was cleared of the crowd and the formation of the procession began

ORDER OF PROCESSION

The following is the order in which the procession was formed—First came the East Portland Band, numbering about 15 pieces dressed in their neat uniforms Minerva Lodge No 19 Orient Lodge No 17 Hassalo Lodge No 15 21st Infantry Band of Vancouver, clad in their bright new uniforms, and numbering 19 pieces Vancouver Lodge No 3, Samaritan Lodge No 2 Ellison Encampment Officers of the Grand Lodge, President and Orator of the Day

The line of march which was determined upon has been previously published In consequence of First street being barricaded at the intersection of Stark it was found necessary to materially alter the line of march previously adopted

There were about 200 members in the procession, exclusive of the bands A finer body of men we have scarcely ever seen, of equal numbers Wearing the bright and tinseled regalias of the order, and moving forward with slow and measured tread, keeping exact time to the music the procession presented a very handsome and imposing appearance After marching through a number of the principal thoroughfares of the city for over half an hour, the procession halted at the Masonic Hall, corner of Third and Alder streets, and filed up into the large audience room in the second story

Pursuant to invitation a large number of ladies of Rebekah Degree Lodge repaired to the hall prior to the arrival of the procession, and were assigned seats, Seats were also assigned the members of the various lodges as they filed into the hall The large platform at the eastern end of the building was filled with chairs and occupied by the officers of the Grand Lodge, officers of the day, invited guests etc

Order was called by the President Mr Jacob Thompson, after all were seated, and everything was in readiness to proceed with the usual exercises of the day One loud rap from his gavel restored silence Without a word being spoken, the East Portland Band struck into a dashing galop, which was discoursed in their best style Two raps from the gavel brought every member of the fraternity in the large hall to their feet Accompanying the organ, which was presided at by Mr S Harris, the entire fraternity joined in singing the "Opening Ode, the words of which were as follows

Brethren of our friendly Order
Honor here asserts her sway
All within our sacred border
Must her high commands obey
Join in Odd Fellowship of Brother
In the song of Truth and Love
Leave disputes and strife to others
We in harmony must move

Honor to her courts invites us
Worthy subjects let us prove
Strong the chain that here unites us
Link'd with Friendship Truth and Love
In our hearts enshrined and cherished
May these feelings ever bloom—
Failing not when life has perished
Living still beyond the tomb

Rev Mr Hoberg the Chaplain came forward at the conclusion of the singing and offered a brief and fervent prayer

A beautiful Quartette was next sung by Mesdames Sears and DeFrans and Messrs Morgan and Morse to which was set the following appropriate and expressive language

No altars smoke no offerings bleed
No guiltless lives expire
To help a brother in his need
Is all our rites require.

Our offering is a willing mind
To comfort the distressed
In others good our own to find—
In others blessings blest

Go to the pillow of disease
Where night gives no repose
And on the cheek where sickness preys
Bid health to plant a rose

Go where the friendless stranger lies
To perish in his doom;
Snatch from the grave his closing eyes
And bring his blessing home

ORATION

Mr C W Parrish the Orator of the Day was then introduced to the audience by the President and delivered the following address

Mr President Brethren Ladies and Gentlemen—When a few days since, the Committee of Arrangements called upon me and requested that I should deliver the oration to-day I must confess I was surprised in their selection in view of the fact that the Order had expressed its intention of making this celebration a grand success But finding that the members of the committee were really in earnest in tendering me this honor and knowing that in case this portion of our exercises became a failure the committee would be censured for its choice and not myself for accepting I determined to undertake the task hoping that my audience may practice charity and believe that some good may come even out of Nazareth

To-day we celebrate the fifty fifth anniversary of Odd Fellowship in America It has been our custom to meet annually in social union and by some appropriate means commemorate the days [illegible] of our Order [illegible] this our day of triumph when American Odd Fellowship [illegible] its mighty [illegible] the [illegible] of the Fatherland the home of [illegible] the [illegible] we would [illegible] in memory [illegible] the harvest of the past and bring [illegible] that [illegible] in the history of Odd Fellowship [illegible] overcome all difficulties that presented themselves at last planted the germ from whence has sprung this vast [illegible] that now goes pressing onward in the march of civilization with the [illegible] Friendship Love and Truth inscribed upon its banners

On the 26th of April 1819 Thomas Wildey an English mechanic unknown to fame and occupying the middle walk in life instituted at Baltimore the first American Lodge of Odd Fellows and named it Washington Lodge No 1

On his arrival in America Thomas Wildey found the country deficient in social institutions and in founding the institution of Odd Fellowship he offered to his fellow men a society innocent in all its aspects useful in all its methods compact in its structure and capable of gathering within its circle all ranks and occupations upon a basis of perfect equality a covenanted brotherhood that watched at the bedside of the sick buried the dead succored the widow and educated the orphan a bond which gave assurance of [illegible] mutual relief and sympathy in affliction a perpetual school of culture in which actual business should beget actual debate where they should learn parliamentary law the courtesies of deliberative bodies and refinement of manners

He knew not at that time what prolific seed he was sowing knew not that ere the seal of death should close his eyes he should behold his labors rewarded by the sight of an army 200,000 strong, bound together by the bonds of an indissoluble brotherhood But all this passed before his gaze [illegible] marching up from the lowly valleys and down from the rock ribbed hills clad in the emblems of its symbolic language with banners gaily streaming in the morning air then he glided down to the water's edge passed over the swelling tide and stood triumphant on the shores of immortality an initiate of that Grand Lodge above from whence there are none dropping none suspended none expelled Then went up from almost every city town and hamlet in the land one universal sob of sorrow It seemed as though Odd Fellowship had lost its guiding hand but soon a reaction took place and others who had sat at his feet and learned wisdom from the [illegible] of his experience sprang to the front and took up the web where he had dropped it

As weavers sometimes mend a thread
And [illegible] may have dropped
So men in others footsteps tread
And start from where they stopped

And still the work goes on and from day to day and year to year our Order increases in strength and numbers diffusing its blessings and comforts with a lavish hand

The records of the session of the Grand Lodge of the United States for the year 1873 show an active membership of 381,887 Odd Fellows in the United States and that during that year relief was granted to the sick the destitute, the widow and the orphan, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $1,503,540, and this amount, be it remembered does not include voluntary donations made by individual members of the Order out of their own means, but only that portion paid out of the funds of the various Lodges Truly the hand of an Odd Fellow is ever open to a worthy brother in friendship or in distress

Odd Fellowship is founded upon that eternal principle which recognizing man as a constituent of one universal brotherhood teaches him that as he came from the hand of a common parent he is bound to cherish and protect his fellow man From this principle we learn to reverence and adore our Creator and to cherish and respect our fellow man, to ascribe all things animate and inanimate to one only creative power; to look upon inanimate nature and on every side behold the Father The sun is His smile the dewdrops His tears, the flowers His fragrance the jewels set by night in the dome of heaven His starry beacons, the thunderclap His voice the ocean roar His whisper and the evening zephyr His lullaby And advancing higher in the scale of creation we still find Him everywhere Behold man the crowning effort of creative genius Heaven and earth are commingled in his nature—his body from the earth beneath, his soul from the heaven above, himself the connecting link between the animal creation and angelic intelligence the earth for his floor heaven for his roof God for his Father, eternity for his lifetime

Thus created and endowed, can we be aught else than brothers? All alike moulded from the dust of the same earth, with the breath of the same Creator in our nostrils

All admit the fact but alas for poor human nature we too often forget the truth wander apart and divide up into systems of faith and sect consider that we ourselves know only the true way, and have not charity for our fellows, forget that others may have opinions in direct opposition to ours, and yet be honest in them Thus we strive the one against the other each one seeking his own course in life and finally we become scattered to the four winds of heaven with no bond of union nothing in common, and no place where we can meet upon a common level

But amidst this discord Odd Fellowship steps in, and with its gentle influence gathers within its orbit antagonistic natures controls the elements of discord stills the storm and soothes the spirit of passion, and directs in harmony man's united effort to fraternize the world It seeks to improve and elevate the character of man to imbue him with proper conceptions of his capabilities for good to enlighten his mind to enlarge the sphere of his affections

As Rome stood the bridge between the ancient and the modern world the vessel in which the treasure of ancient civilization was preserved till the nations of modern Europe were ready to receive it so Odd Fellowship stands in the moral world between the past and the future

There is nothing spasmodic nothing revolutionary in Odd Fellowship, but always unhasting unresisting advance which holds firmly to the past whilst it gains the future We seek to make the world into one vast city for the diffusion of brotherly kindness and charity

Rome lived on amid the fall of all the powers of the ancient world not because she was the strongest but for the reason that instead of being exclusive she [illegible] all whom she conquered to be no more aliens and enemies but brothers friends and citizens of Rome

So with Odd Fellowship it assimilates and adapts itself to the circumstances by which it is surrounded turns enemies into friends foes into brothers and unites all in a mystic bond wherein they are taught to cast way petty jealousies and strifes and to work together for the common good of all

I know there are many persons who are opposed to Odd Fellowship for the reason that men find admission into the Order who do not live in accordance with its teachings I know that when the world sees men of this class taking an active part in the Order and occupying places of honor therein, it is liable to condemn the institution instead of casting the blame on the individual But this is wrong It is not the fault of the Order, no more than it is the fault of the Church that bad men creep in and afterwards by their conduct bring reproach upon the association The snow upon the Alpine heights is spotless white mixed with no impurities, but as the genial sun melts this glistening mass and sends it trickling down the mountain s side, impurities creep in and at last it becomes a muddy turbid, mountain torrent Things heaven sent are pure but being transmitted to the care of man they at times become surrounded by the impurities of humanity and the celestial gem is scarcely seen beneath the mass of infamy which man has heaped upon it

The principles and teachings of Odd Fellowship are pure If man defile them his is to blame Let the fault be with him and do not censure the Order because the members show charity toward the erring one

Our Order has been accused of interfering with the church by supplanting it in the affections of its members This charge is the most unjust of all objections urged against us Odd Fellowship does not occupy a position of hostility to the church or any religious moral or benevolent institution

It claims to be a [illegible] with the church in [illegible] Our field is only with the social world continually recognizing the one fundamental principle that there is one Supreme Being the Creator and Ruler of the universe while the church goes further and enters into the details with the affairs of the spiritual world by means of revelation

[illegible] why the two should not work in harmony [illegible] reverence of the Creator while the other [illegible] beyond the line [illegible] the mortal from [illegible] that world of the infinite where [illegible] taught how to keep the way [illegible] to the highest grade of spiritual perfection

Our [illegible] stumbling block which many profess to find insurmountable [illegible] of our institution We have [illegible] our fraternal right ceremonies passwords and signs [illegible] means that we can recognize a true Odd Fellow or detect an impostor Such precautions are necessary for our self protection We observe secrecy in regard to the business transactions that take place in the lodge room just as we keep secret our private affairs our domestic matters and the confidential relations that exist between friend and friend If there be wrong in this wherein the wrong lies has never yet been discovered by those cavilers who are more ready to make than establish their objections

Our secrets belong to no individual man They belong to the Order alone they concern not the world and belong not to the public

An individual out of the Order has no more right in morals or propriety to pry into them or demand their revelation than he has to turn eavesdropper among neighbors or ask the wife to reveal the confidential conversation of her husband The same principle would justify a clergyman for exposing cases of conscience confided to him by his flock an attorney for betraying his client the physician [illegible] the affairs of his patient and all he sees and hears in the house he visits

Such [illegible] people to be consistent, should have no secrets of their own and keep none confided to them by their family and friends should relate their domestic conversation and conjugal endearments, never vote a [illegible] ticket or [illegible] a letter [illegible] private alms or offer a secret prayer

[illegible] is wrong, or proof of evil all things are evil

Yet I have no doubt there are many present who [illegible] would be much pleased if I would explain to them all the minutiæ of the manner in which we work [illegible] of the Lodge and whether we really keep a goat as an auxiliary in our initiations

But friend be not alarmed I neither crave the forbidden fruit I shall tell you very little of what transpires within that charmed circle I come only to attempt an explanation of some of the principles in which our Order works—and if any of you are still unsatisfied you can find what are called "Expositions of Odd Fellowship," at any of the book stores and the most effectual method of satisfying yourself of their truthfulness is to carefully study their directions and then when you consider yourself perfect try to gain admission into a Lodge But be careful that you do not come out like a certain [illegible] philanthropist who having studied and arrived at what he considered perfection once upon a time it is reported attempted to gain admission to a Lodge and having passed through the outer door he saw the goat confined in a cage and in attempting to pass to the inner door our philanthropist stepped upon a hidden spring which caused the door of the goat cage to fly open whereupon out rushed his goatship with bristling hair and gleaming eyes and made a vigorous attack with hoofs and horns upon the intruder who was observed to proceed down stairs in rather a hurried manner and with the air of a man urged on by some danger threatening him from behind

Some critics have objected to the name by which we are known, as if nothing good could be hidden under so unpromising an appellation

To these I would say there is a moral even in our name

Judge not by appearances

Shakspeare has beautifully taught this lesson in the Merchant of Venice Of the three caskets—the golden the silver and the leaden—the last contained the miniature of the fair Portia Whoso would win Portia must choose the casket in which was locked her counterfeit presentment

Bassanio alone of all her suitors rejected the more promising exteriors of the golden and the silver and chose the modest leaden one that contained the prize

A rough bark covers the most valuable and beautiful wood known to America from the flinty rock, dry gray and forbidding, leaps the bright and refreshing fountain the unsightly grub is the gorgeous butterfly in disguise the brown and scarred sea shell contains the priceless pearl

Thus it is with Odd Fellowship beneath whose blunt and homely name nestle the heaven born virtues of Friendship, Love and Truth " The name of our Order with these three words for our motto we have received as part of our legacy and we would not if we could dissever and mutilate the gift

Each department of our Order has its duty to perform In carrying out the workings of Odd Fellowship it was found that we needed the gentle hand and benign influence of woman to assist For this purpose the Degree of Rebekah was instituted And noble daughters of Rebekah we welcome you with open hand to a place within our sacred temple If you have need to be stimulated to an earnest unswerving and faithful discharge of the duties of the Odd Fellow we have only to call your attention to the bright examples of your own sex around which history throws a never-fading wreath of nobleness and glory Peruse the page and imitate the hospitality, the kindness, the attention to the careworn stranger, bestowed by the noble Rebekah Her name is brighter on the historic page than that of Cleopatra Egypt s ambitious queen

Remember the piety of the wife of Manoah study the character of the queenly Esther think of the patriotism of Deborah, the bright star of hope in her country s troubles and at whose words the stars in their course fought against Sisera

And brothers, one word especially to you As Odd Fellows your mission is one of Friendship Love and Truth You seek no honors you ask no emoluments you labor for no place of power. Political preferment has no enticements the mitred crown has no allurements the coronet of gold and diamonds has no temptation You march not upon the mountains where the pine and oak do grow You walk in the valley where the violet and primrose bloom and walking there among the pure and good among the bereaved and stricken ones among bleeding hearts and blighted hopes among the suffering and the woe the disappointments and desolations of humanity you shed the rich blessings of our Order with a lavish hand

And while we to day with joyful hearts welcome the return of our annual gala day let our joy be tempered with sadness for in our midst we hold the remains of one cut down in the prime of life away from home and loving friends As an individual he was a stranger to most of us but in the bonds of our mystic union he was our friend and brother We were denied the pleasure of his companionship along the walk of the world [illegible]

I must not forget amid [illegible] the widow and the two tender little ones who to day kneel with bowed heads and mourn a husband and a father lost

May God temper the winds to the shorn lambs, and may the thought that that loved form is not left to the rude care of strangers but is watched by a band of sympathizing brothers be some little consolation to their wounded hearts

Brothers it is yours to promote and foster fraternal feeling it is yours to encourage temperance and virtue it is yours to inculcate and practice charity It is yours to relieve the suffering to visit the sick to help the needy and tenderly to care for God precious ones—the widow and the orphan

Your duty is plain before you You find it written in [illegible] of living light upon every mile along the journey of life Falter not neither waver in your course You have nothing to fear a little [illegible] a little [illegible] it may be a little sorrow a little suffering and then [illegible]

[illegible]

Mr Parrish resumed his seat at the close of his remarks amid loud and prolonged clapping of hands and stamping of feet which fact alone is a better eulogy on the appropriate character of the oration than we could bestow

At a signal from the presiding officer the fraternity arose and sung the following Closing Ode

[illegible]

Order [illegible] Odd Fellows' Temple [illegible] the programme [illegible] Odd Fellowship passed off in Portland

THE BALL

Nothing [illegible] was the ball given last evening [illegible] successful than the preceding exercises of the eventful occasion Masonic Hall was literally [illegible] of the beauty and refinement of the city [illegible] at this late hour is out of the question Suffice it to say that it was a grand social achievement in the history of the Order in Portland The large hall was elaborately decorated with flags banners and a hundred and one beautiful emblems of the Brotherhood At least one hundred couple were present—or a sufficient number to crowd to its fullest capacity the commodious hall From the opening march to the last medley all seemed to realize the full measure of enjoyment expected or desired Better music could not be desired than was furnished by Parrott & Bray and Parrish, as caller was a decided success The Floor and Reception Committees were attentive and courteous and performed their allotted duties in a most satisfactory manner Financially and socially the affair was one among the most successful given the present season

A Wrong Custom Corrected.

It is quite generally the custom to take strong liver stimulants for the cure of liver complaint and both the mineral and vegetable kingdoms have been diligently searched to procure the most drastic and poisonous purgatives in order to produce a powerful effect upon the liver and arouse the lagging and enfeebled organ This system of treatment is on the same principle as that of giving a weak and debilitated man large portions of brandy to enable him to do a certain amount of work When the stimulant is withheld the organ like the system gradually relapses into a more torpid or sluggish and weakened condition than before What then is wanted? Medicines that while they cause the bile to flow freely from the liver as that organ is toned into action will not overwork and thus debilitate it but will, when their use is discontinued leave the liver strengthened and healthy

Do not Persecute the Body

In sickness with medicines that depress the physical energies. What the sick principally need is an accession of vital strength to enable them to cope with the enemy that has assailed them The diseased system should be sustained toned purified and regulated and there is no medical preparation in existence so largely endowed with the properties required to effect these objects as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters In ordinary practice aperient blood depurating anti bilious and sedative medicines are administered separately In Hostetter's Bitters all these agents are combined and act together in perfect harmony so that undue debility and undue excitement are alike prevented and the strength of the patient rallies while the disease is losing ground In dyspepsia, liver complaint chronic constipation intermittent fevers general weakness and all ailments involving physical and mental depression this purgative [illegible] restorative is a sovereign remedy

TUESDAY MORNING APRIL 28 1874

THE CODE DUELLO

LATEST APPEAL TO ITS JUDGMENT—THE RECENT SHOOTING MATCH IN MISSISSIPPI

From the New Orleans Times April

On the 1st day of July 18[illegible] Judge William H Cooley met his death in a duel at the hands of E Barnwell Rhett Jr. It was the first fatal duel in this section for several years and although it was followed by several rencounters on the field of honor it was not until yesterday when at the same place the village of Bay St Louis in Mississippi Alfred B Phillips, an attorney at law in New Orleans shot and instantly killed Aristides Bienvenu also of this city in a meeting of a similar nature.

About two weeks ago there was in process of trial before Judge Cullom, of the Fifth District Court, the case of Mme. Olympe—the Canal street [illegible]—vs Aristides Bienvenu, wherein plaintiff claimed a sum of money for millinery and dress-making account contracted by Mrs Bienvenu. A B Phillips was plaintiff's counsel. At the trial were present Mr and Mrs Bienvenu, and upon its close the latter proceeded to the Clerk's office, where, Phillips directly following he was straightway met by the lady who from upbraiding him for the course he had pursued in the case, involving an alleged attachment for her horses and carriage drifted into violent abuse, which embodied the application to Phillips of all the unpleasant epithets in the calender and to which Phillips made the response that his assailant being a woman he could offer no resentment, but that he would notify her husband that he must restrain such exhibitions.

Leaving then the office for the court-room, to place the matter before Bienvenu he met that gentleman at the threshold of the door coming toward him, and to him said "Bienvenu, your wife has grossly insulted me, and I desire you to prevent any further repetition of such conduct."

To this Bienvenu replied "If my wife has insulted you she has done just right, and I myself will take occasion to insult you still more." No sooner did he utter these words than Phillips, provoked beyond endurance, knocked Bienvenu down, at which juncture Mrs B, vociferating her indignation, made a rush for Phillips with intent to attack him, but, being at once prevented by by-standers, committed no damage. Meanwhile B, rising to a sitting posture, made a movement as if to draw a weapon, but those standing by restrained his movements in that direction—Phillips standing his ground quietly, but making no effort beyond his first blow. He then left the apartment, as did the other parties shortly thereafter.

The result of the episode transpired yesterday in a duel to the death. Bienvenu sought the assistance of two friends, a challenge was passed and accepted, Saturday, April 4th, named as the date, shot guns and ball as the weapons forty paces the distance, and Bay St Louis as the place.

The parties with their friends, assembled at 8 o'clock A. M yesterday, at the depot of the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Railroad, at the foot of Canal street, in time to take the train which was destined to hurry them to the arena of blood. Du Bertrand and C D'Armas acted as seconds, and Dr Isaac Scott as surgeon, to accompany Phillips, Leopold Lange and Charles Reiffiel as seconds, and Dr Huard, as surgeon accompanied Bienvenu. A number of other gentlemen went as spectators, apparently actuated by a desire to effect a compromise or settlement in the event an opportunity should occur. Among others were Col Jack Wharton, Col Morrison, O'Niel, Bangs, Bigger and a brother of the deceased, Bienvenu, and some other gentlemen whose names we cannot recall. The train started on time and the trip was made without any occurrence of moment up to the time of arrival at the depot at Nicholson avenue, of Bay St Louis, where the party left the cars. The number of persons, all told, could not have exceeded twenty. The day was lovely and bright, and a casual observer would have failed to notice anything unusual or calculated to excite a suspicion as to the dreadful finale impending.

When the party arrived at the station, the seconds proceeded to select and measure the ground. They located the spot for the conflict at about a hundred yards distant from and on the south side of the railroad. The ground was measured, pegs driven, and a toss for choice of position and the word was had, which was won by the second of Phillips. This delay occupied about half an hour. During the time the rest of the company had broken into groups, and were lounging around as casual spectators. The principals appeared to be unexceptionably cool, calm, and collected. Neither evinced the slightest symptoms of nervousness, or gave any indication of personal apprehension, although there was no levity of manner, but, on the contrary, rather a seriousness of manner, in keeping with the terrible tragedy so near at hand. The weapons, double-barreled shotguns, were loaded with ball by the seconds, and the principals were placed in position. Du Bertrand briefly stated the terms of the cartel, which stipulated that the combatants should stand with their weapons held in such a manner that the muzzles should be pointing the ground; that the words should be "Gentlemen, are you ready?" that silence would be interpreted into consent. Then the words "fire, one, two, three," would be given—that they could raise their weapons and fire after the word "fire," and before the word three." Du Bertrand then gave the manner in which the word was to be given, which was done in as rapid a manner as the circumstances of the case would permit, evidently with the hope of the gentlemen, if possible, to prevent bloodshed.

But alas this effort proved futile, as the sequel proved. Real work now began. The question was asked, "Gentlemen, are you ready?" Silence gave consent and the fatal words "Fire! One!" were given. At the word "one," Philips delivered his fire, and almost simultaneously but perceptibly afterward, Bienvenu's gun was discharged, and he fell dead, shot through the brain. The word "two" was not given, as both parties had discharged their weapons and one lay a bleeding lifeless corpse, and the other standing at his post until permitted to retire.

Both Drs Scott and Huard hurried to the fallen victim of the bloody code but all their skill was of no avail, as could readily be seen. The ball entered the right cheek of the dead man, crushing the jaw bone, ranging upward through the brain and then ranging downward into the spinal column. Death must have been instantaneous. The unfortunate man bled with unusual profusion. His brother, who was present appeared to be greatly affected, and burst into tears. The seconds of Philips asked and obtained permission to retire their friend from the field, and after the usual formalities and expressions of regret at the fatal termination of the affair accompanied him to a neighboring residence, where he remained until the return train for the city should arrive. At 1 10 P M the train reached the depot. In the meantime the body of Bienvenu had been placed in an improvised coffin, which was duly placed upon the cars, and the entire party returned to the city by the same train arriving about 4 P M. It was indeed brief work. The party arrived at the dueling ground at 10 o'clock A. M, at 11 A M the fight had transpired and one by an manimate corpse. At 4 P M the body was delivered in the city, and the event numbered with the things of the past. Such is life, such the results of the code of honor.

Aristides Bienvenu the dead duelist, belonged to the ancient family of that name, which has for years been identified with the history of Louisiana. He was born in New Orleans and continued to reside here up to the time of his death.

LOUIS RIEL'S VICTIM

A [illegible] ACCOUNT [illegible] OF THE RED RIVER REBELLION

French [illegible]

[illegible] organization of the Provisional Government at the time of the Red river rebellion, was named a [illegible] with Louis Riel as Secretary has written a letter in which he purports to give an authentic account of the execution of [illegible] Scott with whose murder Riel [illegible] charged.

Riel has been elected a member of the Dominion Parliament from the District of Provencher at Manitoba and in spite of the fact that a reward of $5 000 is offered for his apprehension and the detectives have been seeking him for months he visited the Government buildings in Ottawa the other day subscribed his name on the roll of the House to which he had been elected and then disappeared as mysteriously as he had come an event which has caused intense excitement throughout Canada.

At the time of the Scott tragedy March 4th 1870 Riel was acting as President of the Provisional Government and Scott was a political prisoner. Bruce says:

Six soldiers had been chosen to shoot Scott. I have here again to write the name of a man whose behavior in that circumstance reflects on him the greatest honor. Augustin Parisien one of the six soldiers declared openly that he would not shoot at Scott and in fact, he took off the cap from his gun before the word of command "Present" was given. Of the five balls remaining only two hit the poor victim—one in the left shoulder and the other in the upper part of the chest above the heart. Had the other soldiers missed the mark unintentionally or had they aimed too high too low, or aside? It is unknown. However that may be as the two wounds were not sufficient to cause death, at least sudden death, a man named Guillemette stepped forward and discharged the contents of a pistol close to Scott's head while he was lying on the ground. This ball however took the wrong direction. It went into the upper part of the right cheek and came out somewhere near the cartilage of the nose.

Scott was still not dead but that did not prevent his butchers from placing him alive, and still speaking, in a kind of coffin made of four rough boards. It was nailed and placed in the southeastern bastion, and an armed soldier was placed at the door. This would seem like a story made at one's ease if there were not several witnesses full of life who heard, between 5 and 6 o'clock in the evening the unfortunate Scott speaking from under the lid of his coffin, and it is known that he had been shot at half past 12. What a long and horrible agony and what a ferocious cruelty on the part of his butchers! The words heard and understood by the French Metis were only these: "My God! my God!" Some English Metis and others speaking Scott's tongue heard distinctly these words: "For God's sake take me out of here or kill me!" Toward 11 o'clock that is after ten and a half hours of frightful agony a person whose name I shall withhold for the present went into the bastion and gave him the finishing stroke with a butcher's knife, according to some with a pistol according to others.

The corpse was left in the southern bastion a few days being kept by soldiers who relieved each in their turn. On the third or fourth night I could not say precisely which, the corpse was taken toward the Red river and stopped at about one mile and a half from the fort, nearly opposite the river La Seine. By means of a large stone tied to the corpse the body of Thomas Scott went to the bottom of the river to come thence no more.

A few words more and I am through this horrible tragedy. It was in the afternoon of the day when the execution took place that the corpse was placed in the coffin, and it was later taken out of the bastion but in order to avoid suspicion a grave had been dug inside of the gate, facing Assiniboine river a few steps to the right, and it is there the coffin which was thought to contain Scott's body was lowered.

No important transactions in financial circles afford subject matter for comment the available funds in market being quite adequate to the ordinary demand and but few opportunities presenting themselves which promise well enough to encourage speculation outside of the usual trade. The call for loans is not at all extensive, and prime commercial paper is treated well both at the city banks and by outside parties. The influx of capital to our State at present is by no means insignificant and with future coming men who belong to that class which aids to develop a country. Sturdy farmers and tradesmen who hail from the more inhospitable climes of Minnesota Wisconsin Iowa etc.

Some [illegible] millions of our Government securities have been exported from Europe within the past few weeks. Several causes more or less speculative have contributed to this return movement one of which is the English Indian loan to which we recently referred. Another is the continued disposition of Germany to sell out American securities and to replace them with European investments.

It is strongly intimated in New York that the recent strikes and other serious labor disturbances along the line of the Erie Railroad were primarily instigated and fomented by Gould and other speculators in his interest who have been conspiring to depress the price of the stock with a view to either making a handsome turn in the market or to buy in a controlling interest in the roads at lower rates. If this charge can be sustained by evidence they should be brought instantly to book and punished to the utmost extent of the law. For to these Wall street sharps and speculators the country at large nearly every year owes for losses and commercial disasters untold produced by their villainous schemes and plottings. To permanently rid the country of them by putting them where they will do the least harm—that is inside prison walls would prevent many of the mishaps which are frequently occurring to the commercial interests of the country.

Internal Revenue

From that excellent paper the Pittsburg Commercial of April 11th we extract the following:

The total receipts from Internal Revenue for the month of March were $[illegible] and for the fiscal year to that date $[illegible]. The Secretary of the Treasury thinks the receipts for the current fiscal year will cover all but the sinking fund $[illegible] He is getting customs receipts in gold about as rapidly as was expected. The legalization of the $44 000 000 reserve will increase the public debt that much but the sinking fund for this year may be taken from that. He says the five million dollars of gold to be sold during the present month is the only disbursement of gold to be made by the [illegible] during that time and the amount will hardly be felt as he anticipates heavy importations. He favors the Government keeping the gold [illegible] to prepare for the resumption of specie payments. He intimates his intention as soon as the Four Hundred Million Bill becomes a law to suspend the gold sales and commence paying out legal tenders.

The Customs and Internal Revenue Bureaus are preparing for a grand raid on delinquent tax payers. Twenty million dollars is the amount estimated as obtainable by this raid.

General Trade.

The general feeling seems to be that trade with our merchants this spring hardly comes up to what was expected earlier in the season [illegible] but a [illegible] and [illegible]. The dry goods business [illegible] ing to strong competition dealers are doing very fairly in purchases. In both woolen and cotton fabrics prices are steady at a slight [illegible] last spring [illegible] goods [illegible] and [illegible] favorable terms.

The hardware trade is as usual quiet [illegible] at this [illegible] devoted exclusively to that branch [illegible] and [illegible] to agents in the interior and [illegible] to farmers who are having largely in this market this [illegible] The stock of agricultural tools and farming implements are large and comprise all the most recent and improved patterns.

[illegible] have not exhibited as much [illegible] correspondingly in the branches of [illegible] above referred to. Most articles in this list have been subjected to some fluctuations in price but the rise and fall has not been great. Some strife between the sugar refineries of California has moved this market on one or two occasions. The present prospect however does not greatly encourage the hope of [illegible] fluctuations. In coffee the aspect of affairs is the reverse and there are many dealers who anticipate a material decline before [illegible].

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal hospitals of Europe and resumed practice at his Dispensary 623 Kearny street corner of Commercial San Francisco where he sold patients and [illegible]
The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies and has returned [illegible] facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of scrofula and [illegible] from virus absorbed into the system. Look at the pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and broken down constitutions [illegible] the happiness of [illegible] In the horrible [illegible] [illegible] those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send immediately to DR GIBBON a physician who has made private diseases a specialty for [illegible] and who is certain to cure them [illegible] without mercury and [illegible] drugs. It is important that those who are afflicted should [illegible] careful of their [illegible] who [illegible] in curing in a few days [illegible] imposing upon the public by the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make inquiry or you may fall into the hands of charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes pain in the head ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins weakness of the limbs confused vision blunted intellect loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society loss of memory hectic flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face furred tongue fetid breath coughs consumption night sweats monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of affecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Married Men,

Or those who contemplate marriage who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.
DR GIBBON is responsible [illegible] will give his patient a written instrument binding him to effect a radical and permanent cure or no charge.

Cured at Home

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon stating case symptoms length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country with full and plain directions. By [illegible] Dollars [illegible] registered letter through the post office or through Wells Fargo & Co a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn to certificates, [illegible] the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places were tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths shoemakers, [illegible] carriers intelligence office keepers etc. The best way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry. It will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets, for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting false titles certificates, pretended patients' [illegible] Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.
